

To whom it may concern:

My name is Stephanie Coronado-Montoya, and I have resided in the Peter-McGill area for a couple of years. TO give you a little of background, I am a young professional who works in downtown. My apartment is located on Atwater and Sherbrooke, and I have lived her for a couple of years because it is an excellent location close to my job and where I spend most of my free time. The area is wonderful—its location is ideal, neighbors are always respectful, there are plenty of things to see nearby (Mount Royal Park and Lachine Canal being amongst my favorite sights), and it feels very safe, even late at night.

I love the neighborhood, but it's not to say there aren't improvements that could be made to the area. For example, I would really love to see more green areas. We are surrounded by buildings everywhere, and it would be wonderful to breather some purer air, have a healthy, safe space where we can exercise in nature, despite being in the city. The parks we have nearby are fairly small, and I often find myself going to other neighborhoods just to enjoy their green spaces. Westmount Park is an exemplary park, that is beautiful year-round and offers sports facilities (soccer fields, for example) that incentivises us to visit this park often. It would be wonderful if the Peter-McGill area were t develop more spaces like these.

I really appreciate your time in reading this letter and considering my opinion.

Have a wonderful day,
Stephanie Coronado
